DEPUTIES' MEETING

Friday, 22 July 1955

PRESENT: Mr. Dulles, General Cabell, Mr. Wisner, Mr. Amory, Colonel White, Messrs. Kirkpatrick, [REDACTED], Sheldon, [REDACTED]

25X1

Mr. Dulles:

a. Referred to the President's proposal at the Geneva Conference respecting the exchange of overflights between the U. S. and USSR, provision of facilities by the U. S. and the USSR from which these overflights can be continued, exchange of "blue prints" of Defense installations, etc., and stated that in anticipation of CIA's being called upon to furnish comment on how this proposal would be implemented and how it would affect intelligence activities, directed that General Cabell and Messrs. Wisner, Amory and [REDACTED] consider this problem and furnish him recommendations.

25X1

b. Stated he was very much concerned about the amount of detailed information contained in papers respecting sensitive operations. For example, the Director said this had been clearly brought home to him in going over the memoranda on [REDACTED] Mr. Kirkpatrick pointed out that one way to help this situation would be to limit the distribution of cables and papers to an absolute minimum.

ACTION: Mr. [REDACTED]
